<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▶ shocked ▶ surprised ▶ alarmed ▶ worried. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▶ his mouth falls open ▶ he realises he only has a week to prepare his project ▶ he puts his head in his hands ▶ he groans.

Please note: the examples of development listed here are not exhaustive. Please allow any other sensible evidence provided it is indicative of Anil's feelings.

2m Award 2 marks for reference to any of the above acceptable points indicating Anil's emotions at this point in the story with development, eg:

- you can tell he is shocked because his mouth falls open when Miss Spindle tells the class about the prize
- I know that Anil is worried about his project because he groans when Miss Spindle says the winner gets to meet astronauts.

1m Award 1 mark for reference to any of the above acceptable points indicating Anil's emotions, without development, eg:

- he's shocked
- I think he's surprised about the prize.

Do not accept answers which incorrectly identify Anil's feelings, eg:

- Anil is excited by the prize.

Please note: the examples of development listed here are not exhaustive. Please allow any other examples of what Cassandra thinks or does provided they are indicative of a character trait.

3m

Award 3 marks for identifying two or more characteristics, where at least one of them is developed with evidence of what Cassandra says or does, eg:

- I think Cassandra is very confident because she's already planning her outfit for the NASA trip but she doesn't even know if she's going to win. Also, I think she's clever because she knows that NASA are rocket scientists and she is also competitive because she wants her skyscraper to win first prize
- she argues with Anil about who is going to win the fair. She's clever because she is making a skyscraper with a garden roof and lights which takes lots of skill
- she is competitive and wants to win the NASA trip. Also I think she is a bit interested when Anil tells her about his brilliant project and wonders what it is.

2m

Award 2 marks for identifying at least two characteristics without development or for one characteristic that is developed with evidence of what Cassandra says or does, eg:

- Cassandra is an intelligent girl, she boasts a lot
- she is easily offended because she reddens when Anil says she won't win the prize
- I think Cassandra is a sensitive character and she wants to win
- I think Cassandra is a clever character because she knows about NASA and she is making a skyscraper with lights and a garden roof.
